ABOUT US

National Student Exchange (NSE) provides collegiate study away for undergraduate students at member campuses in the United States, Canada, Guam, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. Established in 1968, NSE has arranged affordable exchange opportunities for more than 127,000 students.

Study away through NSE includes diverse university settings and access to a wide array of courses, programs, field experiences, and internships. Options for special programs, honors, and study abroad are also available. Students exchange for a semester, academic year, or summer, dependent upon their academic program.

NSE features tuition reciprocity by allowing you to study away paying host campus resident tuition or the normal tuition of your home campus. Work completed while on exchange is transferred back to your home institution, keeping you on track to graduation.

FIND A CAMPUS

Students work with their home campus NSE coordinator and academic advisor to plan for study away with NSE. Select "Campuses" at NSE.org to begin your search. Enter your campus and the search will be customized for you. If you are undecided, use the search filters to narrow down your options.

Once you have identified several NSE campuses in which you are interested, visit each campus profile. The profile contains a campus description, academic programs, and campus-specific information to assist you in your plan for an exchange.

Competitiveness of a campus placement is determined by payment plan options, academic programs, enrollment limitations, housing availability, and the number of applicants for exchange. Your NSE coordinator will assist you to determine the likelihood of placement. Students are encouraged to research a first-choice campus and several alternate choices for their NSE study away experience.
